Location (see map on reverse side):

Hoeve (= farm) Espewey is situated between the characteristic villages Hombourg and Sippenaeken, in the middle of the rural countryside, where Holland, Belgium and Germany meet. This part of Europe is known for its beautiful walks, through valley's and woods. From the top of the viewing Tower, at the Three-Land Point (Drielandenpunt) you get spectacular views of the surrounding area.

The Historical cities of Aachen and Maastricht, and other towns and villages of interest such as Vaals and Valkenburg all are less than 30 minutes by car. Combine a visit to one of the most picturesque towns (Monschau) in Germany, with journey through the Eiffel region, or try the largest in-door ski slopes with 365 days a year real snow.

The region is full of quaint villages, magnificent Castles, historical houses and places of outstanding beauty. In the area around Hoeve Espewey, you can wander endlessly through extensive woods, merging beautifully with the green pastures, golden fields, sunken roads, and quiet villages, tucked away in the richly varying landscape. The sportive cyclist, too, will be delighted; the undulating countryside makes a bike-tour on the quiet roads a very relaxing and healthy holiday experience.

On those colder evenings you are more than welcome to warm yourselves by an open-air campfire. Two Golf courses are within 4 and 8 km. We rent bicycles (max. 4) or you can bring your own, but be sure they have enough gears (because of the hills)
